THE MOCKING BIRD.

There is no other bird sings half like that!
From Eden's bowers it flew,
Out to the world, with wavering plumage gray.

With the unhappy twain, that sad day
The rose wept tears of dew,
It is not nightingale or lark.
Oh, a diviner bird!

In moon-tipped forests, sweet with night and dew,
And sun-kissed meadows, when the spring
goes through,
Its voice is ever heard.

Its nest! In breaks where roses blow,
Where honeysuckles roam;
The wind pipes soft around it, and the rain
Of fearful April parts in twain.
Not damps its downy home.

Whence cometh it and goeth it?
Born for the soul's delight,
No bird that flits through glories of the dawn.

Or homeward comes, down deepening twilight drawn,
Can match its heart notes slight.
—Mark A. Candler in Atlanta Constitution.

Easy Enough.

Julian Mitchell, the stage manager, was rehearsing a company of variety people who had waxed ambitious and planned to go forth into the flowery fields of polite farce. Among them was a knockabout team, one of whom was cast to play a gilded youth who figures prominently in the piece. His ideas concerning the proper performance of the role were supremely weird, and one afternoon Julian overheard the following conversation between the portrayer of the modern swell and his partner:

"Say, Billy, I ain't got no use for these dood parts. I can't get no conception av 'em."

"Come on. Cuff shootin's dead easy."
"Ever try it?"

"Satinly. Kelcey ain't in it with me when it comes to wearin dress props."

"Well, the game's a dead hard one for me."

"Nix. All ye got to do is to remember you're a gent what's wearin gent's clothes and lettergo!"—New York Commercial Advertiser.

The Field for the Inventor.

In the realm of machinery and manufacture the inventor is yet but entering upon his infancy. Many millions of dollars have been reaped and are to be accumulated by the inventor in machinery who understands the complicated needs of humanity. The central idea in this work is to reduce labor, expense and time to the lowest point, and so to economize in the use of material that there will be no absolute waste. To enter upon this field of invention one cannot trust to accident and happy luck, but he must first thoroughly acquaint himself with the laws of dynamics and mechanics, so that he can appreciate an improvement when it is suggested to his mind.—George E. Walsh in New York Epoch.

Mirrors of the Israelites.

The earliest mirrors of which mention is made in history were in use among the Israelites in the time of Moses. That gentleman, as recorded in the Bible, commanded in a certain emergency that these articles should be transformed into wash basins for the priests. They were made of brass. Doubtless similar utensils of this and other materials were in use long before that. At that same period black glass was employed for the purpose, as well as transparent glass with black foil on the back. It is related that the Spaniards found mirrors of polished black stone, both convex and concave, among the natives of South America.—Washington Star.

Labor and Expense in Circulars.

Just how much the postoffice department receives every year for making men's lives burdensome with circulars of every imaginable character it is impossible to estimate, but if St. Louis is any criterion it must be enormous. One firm alone sends out considerably over 1,000,000 a year, and quite a number employ a large staff of folders and addressers, and get out from 2,000 to 5,000 a day each during the busy season. If every one they send to reads the circulars as little as I do there is a terrible amount of love's labor lost in the work.

News of Importance From Home and Abroad.

A TOP-HEAVY CRUISER.

When Senator Ingalls was defeated for re-election by the Kansas farmers last winter he spoke against the useless expenditure of millions of dollars annually for building war vessels, which, in this age of invention are likely to be worthless for war purposes before they leave the stocks. Probably he knew at that time that the Philadelphia, a new steel cruiser of 4,392 tons displacement and 10,750 horse-power, proved the truth of what he asserted. It is now made public through the New York Times that the new cruiser, which has been designated the flag ship of the North Atlantic Station, is only kept from turning bottom side up by carrying all the water she can hold in her double bottom's space.

The Times states that during the past week Naval Constructor McIntyre made a calculation showing that at least $275,000 would be necessary to secure for the Philadelphia the one feature of stability. A second calculation made by another naval officer placed the sum necessary to keep the vessel from turning bottom side up at $400,000.

The actual condition of the new cruiser has only become generally known in the last month. On being accepted by the Government, she was fitted out for sea, and after a lengthy stay at the Brooklyn Navy Yard was ordered to sail. Commandant Brain of the Navy Yard called for a written statement from Naval Constructor McIntyre that the vessel was fit to go to sea. McIntyre refused to sign such a statement and insisted on learning the exact metacentric height of the Philadelphia, that is, the point in the ship which is the center of gravity, and above which weight must not be placed, because of the risk of capsizing.

This height was found to be only four inches, though it should not be less than twelve inches for safety alone, and for fighting not less than sixteen inches.

The sailors say that the vessel's main battery guns could be made to dip their muzzles by putting the helm hard over, and it was found on calculation that if the lower coal bunkers were partially emptied, while the upper bunkers were full, the ship would turn over from the top weight. The vessel's steel masts have been taken out and replaced by light wooden spars, but this did not help the matter much and the vessel can only be kept afloat by carrying water ballast.

The Philadelphia is about the same size and type as the Charleston. She was intended to plow the salt waves at a speed of nineteen or twenty knots an hour. It is found, however, before she goes to sea, that she is liable to topple over on the water, and it is conceded with her armament aboard it would be dangerous to risk her outside a harbor, and from a quarter to a half million dollars more must be expended on her to make her seaworthy.

CHILI AND THE UNITED STATES.

Before the November elections were held there was much talk of a war with Chili. It was announced from Washington that a great naval demonstration had been ordered to take place at Valparaiso, in which all the United States war vessels that date venture into deep water were to participate. This led one or more of the big newspapers on the other side of the continent to make comparisons between Chili and the United States, one of which compiled from statistics is as follows:

Chili is a narrow little strip of rock-ribbed and generally uninhabitable land of less than 300,000 square miles area. The United States has an area of 3,000,000 square miles. Chili has a population of less than 3,000,000; the United States a population of over 62,000,000. Chili's material resources will not begin to compare with those of the single State of Massachusetts. Now exhausted by civil war, Chili has an army of about 6,000 men and 40,000 reserve militia men; the United States has an army of $25,000 men, and an available force besides of 7,000,000 men. Weak as is the United States navy, it is about six times stronger than the Chilean navy. This shows that a contest between the United States and Chili would be about as unequal as a fight between John L. Sullivan and a ten-year-old school boy.

The Carson Appeal, commenting upon an article in the Enterprise abandoning the fight for silver, thinks the editorial might have crept into the Enterprise while the editor was away. It says: "To hold that the silver fight is no longer a National issue is a complete abandonment by Nevada and the West of all we have been struggling for." As the Enterprise has not apologized for unconditionally surrendering to the gold men, its editor evidently capitulated.

Governor Horace F. Boies, who has been re-elected by a decisive plurality of the largest vote ever polled in Iowa, was a prominent Republican some years ago. He left the party because he did not believe in its financial policy, which was dictated by Wall Street; nor in its tariff policy, which was shaped by monopolists, and over 50,000 Republicans went with him.

J. A. Blossom of Battle Mountain who has been visiting the Cinnabar gold mines in Humboldt county, tells the Central Nevada that he could make no estimate as to the worth of the mines, owing to their undeveloped condition. A great many locations have been made and strangers are arriving in the district daily.

Catch-as-Catch-Can.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 27.—Joe Acton, the "Little Demon," defeated Bob Fitzsimmons, the champion middle-weight pugilist, in a catch-as-catch-can wrestling match at the Occidental Club to-night for a $1,000 purse. Fitzsimmons weighed 148 pounds, while Acton's weight was in the neighborhood of 155. Harry Corbin refereed the match while Sam Fitzpatrick acted as timekeeper. Acton opened with a neck hold and both men went to the floor, Acton bridging. He worked loose and tried to roll Fitzsimmons over, the latter cleverly keeping his shoulders up. After a number of changes Fitzsimmons got the upper hold and turning Acton on his side lifted him and placed him fairly on his back. Time of bout, 11 minutes and 40 seconds.

Acton tried half strangle hold in the second bout and held Fitzsimmons' head to the floor till the latter's veins seemed about to burst and he was red in the face. Twice he cleverly escaped being rolled over on his back, but the third time Acton succeeded. Time, 4 minutes and 50 seconds. Acton got Fitzsimmons on his side in the next round and tried a leg twister, but Fitzsimmons went spinning on his shoulders, narrowly escaping a fall. Acton then got a head hold and rolled him over, though Fitzsimmons bravely essayed to hold his own by bridging. Acton got him onto his right side and rolled him over, winning the bout and match in 12 minutes and 34 seconds.

Sergeant Owen Davis, of sword contest fame, was fought to a standstill by Jack Wilson, the Presidio soldier, in a finish fight for a $500 purse. Davis was receiver general from the start, Wilson beating him about the ring and making Davis' mouth a constant target for his left. Davis gave up at the end of the sixteenth round.

Report of Superintendent of Railway Mail Service.

WASHINGTON, November 27.—The annual report of General Superintendent White of the Railway Mail Service, shows at the close of the fiscal year, mails were carried on 150,518 miles of railroad in the United States. Postal clerks were employed on 140,736 miles. Service on the remainder is performed by closed pouches. The total number of cases under the control of the department is 2,861.

At the close of the fiscal year there were 1,088 railway postoffices and 37 steamship lines in operation on which 5,565 postal clerks are employed. During the year 4,738 miles of new service has been added. Record of annual mileage for the clerks shows an increase of 6,713,837 miles, or five per cent. in the distance traveled in the performance of duty and $98,814,492 pieces, 68.9 per cent. in quantity matter distributed.

Mr. White recommends providing for the retirement of all permanent railway postal clerks on third or half pay who have become incapacitated for further service by reason of age, injuries received in the discharge of duty, etc., the fund to be created by withholding a sum equal to half of one per cent. per annum of the salary of each clerk.

A Heavy Failure.

CHICAGO, November 27.—Field, Lindley & Co. of New York, whose failure was announced to-day, dealt here extensively through commission houses. The news of the failure did not seriously effect the prices of this market. Corn went up about one-half a cent, though it did not appear that there were any sales for their account. Wheat declined 1/4 of a cent momentarily, but soon recovered the loss and more.

Their business in Chicago since last Spring has been limited, and of late commission houses were calling on them sharply for margins. In fact, some houses recently declined commission from the firm. As far as learned there will be no losses here.

The Ontario Mine Flooded.

BALT LAKE, November 27.—The drain tunnel in the Ontario mine out into a large water vein, and the water came forth in an immense volume, carrying all before it. Large timbers were carried to the mouth of the tunnel and a 20-inch pipe completely washed out of the tunnel to the length of 2,000 feet, under water six to twelve inches deep.

In the engine house the fly-wheel, pits of the engine and compressor were filled and operations were completely blocked; 10,000 gallons are flowing per minute. Operations will not be resumed under ten days.

A Receiver Appointed.

CHICAGO, November 27.—A bill was filed in the Circuit Court to-day by W. N. Lamb, Sarah A. Edith and Virginia Copeland of Washington, D. C., asking the appointment of a receiver for the American Mining and Smelting Company, an Illinois corporation, owning three silver mines at Leadville, Col., on which it has expended nearly half a million. The complaints assert that in October, 1890, they owned $321,000 worth of stock, and that by fraudulent manipulation Daniel P. Ellis and C. A. Otis deprived them of their rights.

Incendiary Fires.

BAKER CITY, Or., November 27.—Numerous incendiary fires have occurred in this city and county of late and last night two barns five miles apart belonging to Leonard Low, on Burnt river, were burned together with 400 tons of hay; loss, $3,700. Threats of lynching the guilty parties when caught are made.

Robbed a Church.

LOS ANGELES, November 27.—Early this morning thieves entered the sanctuary of the cathedral and blew open two safes, one in the sanctuary the other on the altar containing two eboraries and one ostensory of solid silver, valued at $1,000. The thieves used dynamite and left nothing behind to disclose their identity.

ODD FELLOWS' REUNION.

A Large Gathering Expected at Carson This Evening.

This evening there will be a general gathering of members of the I. O. O. F. at Carson. Large delegations are expected to be in attendance from Wadsworth, Reno, Verdi, Washoe, Virginia City, Gold Hill, Dayton, Genoa and other places. A special train will leave Reno on the Virginia & Truckee Railroad at 6 p. m., and will return about 1 o'clock next morning. The fare for the round trip from Reno to Carson will be $2 50.

The celebrated degree team of Carson will be in harness, and its work will interest Odd Fellows, all of whom in this section are cordially invited to attend.

"The Empress."

Miss Emma Gibbs entertained her friends and the public generally at the "Empress" millinery establishment last evening, it being the holiday opening of this fashionable emporium. There was a grand display of hats and bonnets, feathers and flowers, ribbons and laces and the thousand and one things of which men know so little and ladies think so much, all tastefully arranged, as only one skilled in the art could do it. The reporter acknowledges his inability to describe the beautiful articles on exhibition, and suggests that the ladies call and see them.

Free Water.

Parties in Reno having good wells or a place for one are throwing away money in paying water rates, when by a small investment plenty of pure water is at their command free of cost. One good well will supply water for several families, who by joining in the expense of erecting a windmill, tank, etc., can not only effect a saving in expenses, but be independent of a monopolizing water service. A visit to the Water Company's reservoir and ditch at times will convince the most skeptical that well water is the doctor's enemy, while surface water is the direct agent in bringing business to his office.

Constant pumping insures pure water from all good wells, hence the quality of well water cannot be judged properly from only occasional pumpings. Many unused wells would furnish plenty of pure, clear water if properly pumped.

Can you afford a pumping plant of your own? We will answer for you, Yes.

We are prepared to take contracts this winter to erect any sized wind-mill plant required, with proper tank and service connection, furnishing them on a monthly installment plan, warranting all work and taking proper care of all mills so erected.

Plans and specifications free upon application. Anti-freezing pumps and protected pipes insure equally as good winter service as in Summer. For further particulars call on

RENO MFG. CO.

J. C. Doyle of Aspen, Colorado, has patented a hoisting apparatus that is simple and inexpensive. Two tracks are laid from the mouth of the shaft down the hill to where it may be desirable to dump the ore or waste rock. The weight of the loaded car going down the track hoists the bucket of ore or waste out of the shaft and pulls the empty car up to the shaft on another track. Of course it can only be used on a hillside where the descent to the dump is sufficient to hoist a bucket.

The contest over the will of the late Ella Ellen of Truckee, has commenced in the Superior Court at Nevada City. The Republican says by the terms of the will the bulk of the property was left to Mrs. Emma Regli, a daughter, who died before her father. The heirs are three grandchildren, James Henry, Joseph Sanders and a son of Mrs. Regli. The estate is valued at $60,000.

FINANCE.

Its Reform the Problem of the Day.

EDITOR JOURNAL.—Now that Congress is about to assemble, it might be a good idea for the financiers of the country to express their views of the situation, and if they discover any friction, to suggest a remedy.

The bond and mortgage holders have told us that silver should never be used for redeeming a bond or mortgage on account of its being a debased metal, and that gold alone should be used for the holy and divine purpose of ultimate redemption.

Now, I happen to be one of those unfortunate debtors who need a little enlightenment from the bondholders and interest gatherers on how to meet our obligations with gold coin.

The interest-bearing debts in the United States amounts to more than $40,000,000,000, or nearly double the assessed value of all the property. This immense debt is bearing an average rate of interest of not less than 6 per cent., an aggregate of $2,400,000,000, yearly interest.

We are told by the Director of the Mint that there is less than $300,000,000 in gold coin in the United States. According to these figures the debtors would have to get possession of the entire amount of gold coin three times a year to meet their interest obligations.

When we consider the amount of gold that must be held as a reserve by banks, corporations and other institutions, it will be seen at a glance that it would be a physical impossibility to do it. Besides others might have a demand on some of this gold that would be almost as imperative as that of the interest gatherer.

The banks of Great Britain owe their depositors, payable on demand in gold, $3,500,000,000, a sum equal to the entire amount of gold known to exist in the world. Besides this sum which the banks owe their depositors, the other countries owe the bondholders of Great Britain $15,000,000,000, all payable in gold.

Here is one country alone that has a mortgage on four times as much gold as there is in existence, and their bonds are yearly increasing.

With this condensed statement of some of the interest-bearing debts it will be seen at once that the situation is becoming very serious. Banks are failing on every hand, many corporations and individuals are hopelessly bankrupt. Money has almost ceased to be a medium of exchange and is used almost wholly to buy bonds and pay interest.

The debtors are beginning to realize that if their creditors were to undertake to enforce collection nine-tenths of them would be bankrupt. To the debtors it looks as if the question of the day was financial reform. Will some gold-bug bondholder rise and explain and oblige one who has no hope of ultimate redemption?

DEBTOR.

SERIOUSLY INJURED.

J. H. Merritt Found Unconscious in the Road.

Thanksgiving Day J. H. Merritt of Spanish Springs Valley, was found lying in the road between his ranch and John Dixon's in an insensible condition. He was taken to his home and Dr. J. A. Lewis was called to attend him. Dr. Lewis says Mr. Merritt is badly hurt. He has some severe scalp wounds and may be injured internally. He remained unconscious until yesterday and then was unable to give any information regarding the manner in which he was injured, and did not realize that he was injured.

Mr. Merritt was driving along the road when the team ran away. It is supposed that he was thrown out of the wagon and Dr. Lewis thinks he was kicked on the head by one of the horses.

The Truckee Republican says Slason, Crocker & Co. have secured a contract for furnishing 6,000 cords of wood for the railroad next year, which is the only wood contract thus far let on this side of the mountains.
